

Hi! I'm Sprig™ the Freedom Fighter.™
Did you know that there are more different types of trees, insects, birds and animals in our TROPICAL RAIN FORESTS than in any other forests on our Earth?

Can you imagine the wonderful colors and sounds in a tropical rain forest?

Tropical Forests grow near the equator. There are rainy times and dry times in the tropics, but there is never a winter. The temperature is about the same every day of the year! There are so many different kinds of trees in tropical forests that a small patch of forest can have 100 different types. There are also many, many types of animals in tropical forests. Small, furry animals, insects, bats and birds, like toucans and parrots, make tropical forests noisy, busy places. Tropical forests also give us important products and medication.
